Withdraw petition against rural service: Health Minister's appeal

Dr. K. Sudhakar delivers 11th Convocation address of JSS Academy of Higher Education and Research

Mysuru, Nov.11 (SSV)- Health and Medical Education Minister Dr. K. Sudhakar appealed to those doctors, who have moved Court questioning the State Government's decision to make one year rural service compulsory, to withdraw their petition as it has been done in the interest of providing healthcare to the needy. He was delivering the eleventh Convocation address of JSS Academy of Higher Education and Research at Suttur Mutt here this morning.

The Minister said there was a lot of disparity in healthcare facilities between urban and rural areas. Nearly 70 per cent of healthcare was available in urban areas and the rest in rural areas. However, the fabric of India is that 70 per cent of the population live in villages and they were denied of any healthcare facility. Keeping this in view, the Government of Karnataka made compulsory for the medical graduate and post-graduate students to work at least for 12 months in rural areas. The idea behind was to ensure good healthcare for people in rural areas too, he said.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Like a phoenix that rises from the ashes, the Indian economy has a chance to reinvent itself after the Covid-19 pandemic. The pandemic has worsened inequality by disproportionately affecting the poorest and has brought many businesses to a standstill. The government has earmarked Rs. 22.5 trillion in fiscal stimulus (11% of GDP) to rescue and revive the economy. If funds are well spent, the Indian economy can pivot in a direction that not only reboots growth but which delivers a cleaner and safer environment while reducing inequalities. It's time for India to embark on a Green Recovery. In forming Green Recovery policy, India should look to positive examples set by France, South Korea, and the EU that are each putting more than 25% of 'recovery type' spending to green investments. With almost $600 billion already set aside globally for green forms of recovery, any commitments from India would be in good company. A Green Recovery would not only generate handsome economic returns but also tackle some of India's most pressing environmental, social and health challenges. — Sugandha Srivastav and Brian O'Callaghan in The Times of India

Expensive racing pigeon costs $1.5 Million, has bodyguards

Antwerp: A two-year-old racing pigeon named New Kim from Belgium has recently been crowned the world's most expensive pigeon after a South African collector bid a whopping 1.3 million euros ($1.5 million) in an online auction.

Father and son duo Gaston and Kurt Van De Wouwer have an enviable resume among pigeon breeders, winning numerous national ace pigeon titles and 1st place at nationals, so it's no wonder that their birds are sought after in the still ongoing online auction. But even so, no one expected the star of the show, a two year-old female named New Kim, to break the world record for most expensive pigeon.

Because of the exceptionally high bid, New Kim is reportedly being guarded by a security company, to ensure that nothing happens until it enters the possession of its new owner.

Man boasts of over 1,000 "Antique" cellphones collection

Ankara: A Turkish man's impressive collection of outdated handhelds from the pre-iPhone era has made him boast of having over 1,000 'antique' cellphones collection.

Sehabettin Ozcelik, a phone repairman from Turkey, keep all of them around. In his case, the collection of outdated cellphones consists of over 1,000 models, including classics like the Nokia 3310 or Motorola Razr V3.

Sehabettin Ozcelik, who keeps his prized collection in his house, said that he used to have almost 2,000 different phones, but burglars broke into his home a couple of years ago and relieved him of over 700 handhelds.Ozcelik started collecting outdated cellphones about 20 years ago, and is very fond of his technological artifacts. Despite getting offers for some of his rarest models, he wouldn't part with any of them.

What is saccadic masking?

Without knowing it, you experience brief periods of blindness throughout your day. These flashes of blindness are called saccadic masking. During this time, your brain blocks out the blurriness caused by eye movements. These gaps in vision add up to about 5 hours of blindness per week, or 10 days per year.

Aadhaar updates: Beware of overcharging by computer centres and Common Service Centres

Sir,

Recently, the Unique Identification Authority of India (UIDAI) has introduced a new Self-Service Update Portal (SSUP) wherein residents can themselves update their demographic details such as Name, Address, DoB, Gender, etc., from their home computer or from any computer centre.

However, some computer centres, Common Service Centres (CSCs) and cyber cafes are taking undue advantage of this facility and overcharging the residents. Residents have complained at the Aadhaar Seva Kendras (ASKs) that some of them are charging up to Rs. 800 - Rs.1000 for the updates.

Some of them are also providing fake certificates of Gazetted Officers and charging up to Rs. 5,000 per certificate, at times even when the certificate is not required.

Residents of Mysuru are advised not to go to such centres as they are not even sparing the poor people and looting their customers.

Appointment: Free of charge. Nowadays appointment is not required as there is not much crowd at the Aadhaar Seva Kendras. The ASKs are open on all 7 days of the week.

New Enrolment: Free of charge.

Mandatory Biometric Update (MBU): Free of charge. MBU is required to be done when the individual crosses 5 and 15 years of age.

Biometric Update: Rs. 100. Update of Fingerprints, Iris scan and Photo.

Demographic Update: Rs. 50. Update of Name, Address, DoB, Mobile No, e-mail id, Gender or Language.

Reorder Aadhaar Card: Rs. 50.

Order PVC Aadhaar Card: Rs. 50.

Enrolment Form: Free of charge.

NOTE: Do not speak to Security personnel, middlemen or any unauthorised persons for information about Aadhaar. Please contact the ASK at Saraswathipuram or Vijayanagar to obtain correct information.

All information is available from UIDAI Helpline No. 1947 or UIDAI website www.uidai.gov.in.

You may also contact the Centre Manager on Mob: 76075-15716 between 11 am - 4pm from Monday to Friday.

COVID test must for College-going students

Bengaluru, Nov.11 (SSV)- COVID-19 test has been made mandatory for students who wish to attend degree, engineering and diploma colleges which are all set to re-open from Nov. 17.

Dr. Ashwathnarayan

Disclosing this at a news conference here on Monday, Deputy Chief Minister and Higher Education Minister Dr. C.N. Ashwathnarayan said students wishing to attend classes offline must undergo RT-PCR test three days before the beginning of the College and show 'negative' report to College authorities on the day of re-opening. Students who tested 'positive' are strictly not allowed to attend classes. Teachers must wear face mask and shield compulsorily while taking classes, he said.

The Minister said the Department of Higher Education has formulated SOP (Standard Operating Procedure) as per University Grants Commission (UGC) guidelines, as all degree, engineering, and diploma Colleges in the State will re-open from Nov. 17. Preparation was underway to enable the start of the off-line classes.

The SOP has separate set of advisories for students of final year and the classes will be conducted accordingly. Likewise, there are separate advisories set for the students of first and second year students, he added.

SOP for PG and final year students attending classes physically

• Students who wish to attend classes physically should bring consent letter of their parents in the prescribed format duly signed by them.

• While conducting physical classes social distance needs to be maintained by taking into account the total number of students and the available total number of classrooms as per the guidelines of Health Department and the present advisories.

• Teaching, practical and project classes be conducted on shift system if necessary.

For those attending classes online

• Online classes should be conducted for those who do not wish to attend physically. Contact classes should be conducted every day to facilitate students to clarify any doubts and resolve issues of such students with regard to topics.

• The time-table should be prepared at the College-level itself so as to enable to maintain the social distance as per the guidelines of the Health Department and the present advisories based on the total number of students and the available number of classrooms while conducting the contact classes.

• Teaching faculty should prepare the study materials required for the duration of one month based on each period/ session and compulsorily send it to concerned students via WhatsApp or e-mail. These study materials should be in the form of video lectures, power-point presentations, e-notes, e-books, audio books, practice questions, etc. It is also mandatory to upload the same study materials to the website of the College.

• All those students (exclusive of Post-Graduation and final year) who attend online/ contact classes can stay in hostels located on-campus or off-campus.

• Apart from these the SOPs also have many general guidelines which include cleansing of buildings, entrance, furniture, teaching materials with sanitisers; COVID-19 test of teaching faculty, students, and non-teaching staff and others.

IAS,KAS Coaching

Mysuru, Nov. 11- Krishik Sarvodaya Foundation (KSF) will commence online/ offline coaching from Dec. 1 for admission to IAS and KAS-2021 coaching at Mysuru with hostel facilities. Vigilance Awareness Week at CSIR-CFTRI

Mysuru, Nov. 11- The Council of Scientific & Industrial Research (CSIR)-Central Food Technological Research Institute (CFTRI), Mysuru, celebrated Vigilance Awareness Week from Oct. 27 to Nov. 2, to reinforce various vigilant aspects among the employees of the Institute.

As part of the celebrations, CSIR-CFTRI had organised a talk on 'The Evils of Corruption, Good Governance and Vigilance Awareness among the Citizens and Organisations' on Oct. 28 through virtual session.

Addressing the staff and students, chief guest Dr. Suman D. Pennekar, Superintendent of Police, Anti Corruption Bureau (ACB), and Dy. Director, Karnataka Police Academy (KPA), Mysuru, narrated the importance of Lokayukta and ACB Departments in handling corruption cases in Government Offices and various measures to curb corruption.

She urged all Government servants to be vigilant, courteous and people-friendly while addressing the common man's problem. She explained how corruption has continued to be a menace for both developed and developing countries in the world.

Dr. Suman expressed her concerns about how the personality traits in individuals help in the formation of attitude towards corruption and urged the youngsters to re-engineer their behaviour in the personality to fight against corruption.

The event was presided over by Dr. Alok Kumar Srivastava, Chief Scientist and Head, Food Safety & Analytical Quality Control department.

In his remarks, Dr. Srivastava urged the participants to strengthen ethical and good house-keeping habits in their lives and not to adopt shortcut practices to get immediate works done, as adopting shortcuts has become the root cause for corruption.

D.J.N. Prasad, Vigilance & Administrative Officer of the Institute, administered the Integrity Pledge to all the staff on the MS Team platform.

He also informed that on the eve of Vigilance Awareness Week, an Essay Writing Competition on the Theme "Vigilant India - Prosperous India" and General Quiz for Staff and students was held in the Institute on Oct. 20. Further, he presented the vigilance measures being followed at CFTRI to give good governance towards achieving transparency, accountability, and a corruption-free environment.

On the occasion, Dr. Suman distributed prizes to winners of the competitions. K.L. Rajashekar, Section Officer, welcomed. Vijayalakshmi J. Rao, Assistant Section Officer, proposed a vote of thanks, according to a press release from S.V.N. Vijayendra, Coordinator, Information & Publicity, CSIR-CFTRI.

Neighbour's murder: Accused nabbed

Mysuru, Nov. 11 (KS)- Lashkar Police, on Nov. 9, have arrested a 36-year-old man on charges of murdering a woman at Veeranagere on Oct. 17. The accused is Alvin, a resident of Hanumanthanagar at Srirangapatna in Mandya.

Alvin

Details: On Oct. 17, Alvin, who was then residing at Veeranagere in city, picked up a fight with his wife and when a woman (victim) intervened and tried to stop the fight, Alvin had assaulted her by kicking her and dashing her head against the wall besides allegedly stabbing her on the stomach with a knife.

In a bid to evade arrest, Alvin had vacated the house at Veeranagere and shifted to a house at Srirangapatna. The injured woman, named Mahadevamma, who was admitted to the hospital by her neighbours after the assault, died on Oct. 31, failing to respond to the treatment. Lashkar Police had registered a case in this regard and had formed a team to nab the accused.

Alvin is a trouble-monger, who used to pick up fights with public for petty reasons and used to brutally assault them. Cases pertaining to murder, attempt to murder, threatening with life have already been registered at Narasimharaja and Alanahalli Police Stations. He had served life sentence and had come out of jail in September, said a press release from the Police.

DCP Dr. A.N. Prakash Gowda and Devaraja Sub-Division ACP Shashidhar supervised Lashkar Inspector S.D. Suresh Kumar, Sub-Inspectors Gautham Gowda and Dhanalakshmi and staff Lingaraju, Adam, Bopaiah, Manjunath, Pratheepa, Manjunath, Chinnappa, Kiran and Sathya in the nabbing operation.

Unidentified persons run over by trains

Mysuru, Nov. 11 (KS)- In separate incidents, Mysuru Railway Police have found bodies of two unidentified persons who were run over by trains and have shifted the bodies to mortuaries.

In the first incident, the Railway Police on Nov. 7, have found a body of an unidentified man, who had come under a moving train at Mandya Railway Station.

The deceased is aged about 35 years and is 5.6 ft. tall, normal built, oval faced, has tattoos of Anjaneya on his right elbow and a bull on his right arm. He also has a tattoo of a heart on his left elbow, a tattoo of Mahadeshwara Swamy seated on a tiger on his left arm and has the names Vinutha Srinivas tattooed on the right side of his chest, Reshma, Nirmala Manjegowda on the left side of his chest and Raksha Amulya on his right palm. The body has been shifted to Mandya District Hospital mortuary.

In the second incident, the Railway Police, on Nov. 8, have found a body of an unidentified man, who too was run over by a train on Railway Gate No. 97, between Pandavapura and Srirangapatna. The body has been shifted to MMC&RI mortuary in Mysuru.

The deceased, aged between 40 and 45 years, is 5.6 ft. tall, wheatish complexioned, oval faced and was found wearing a pink full arm shirt and brown shorts.

The kith and kin of the deceased, if any, may contact Mysuru Railway Police on Ph: 0821-2516579, according to a press release from the Sub-Inspector, Mysuru Railway Police Station.

DC Rohini Sindhuri lighting the lamp to inaugurate the Airport Advisory Committee meeting at Mysore Airport in Mandakalli yesterday as MP Pratap Simha, City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta, MUDA Chairman H.V. Rajeev, Mysore Airport Director R. Manjunath and others look on. Picture right shows representatives from various fields at the meeting.

Mysuru, Nov.11 (SSV&MTY)- Representatives from various fields have stressed the need for the much-delayed expansion of the runway of Mysore Airport at Mandakalli and to make provision for landing and take-off of Boeing planes.

Participating in Airport Advisory Committee (AAC) meeting held at the Airport premises yesterday, representatives from industries, education, tourism and other allied fields bemoaned over the delayed runway expansion. They said because of this reason, only light airplanes were being operated at this airport. Due to non-operation of Boeing airplanes, the air connectivity to important cities and States within the country and outside India had not become a reality. The runway expansion was the panacea for overall development of city, they noted.

Replying to this, Mysuru - Kodagu MP Pratap Simha, who is also the Chairman of the AAC, said that 240 acres of land was required to take up the runway expansion. As many as 114 acres of land had been acquired way back in 2012. At that time the compensation was fixed at Rs. 40 lakh per acre. However, now the market value of land had been revised and it was fixed at Rs.1.05 crore per acre on roadside land and Rs.1.04 crore per acre for interior land. Accordingly, they required Rs.170 crore to acquire the additional land. This proposal is expected to get nod from the Union Finance Ministry next week. After that, the works such as runway expansion and airport expansion would be taken up, he added.

Selfie point opened

A selfie point being set up at Mysore Airport to click the selfie to preserve it as a memory was opened. Other facilities like canteen and toilet for people who come to Airport to drop their near and dear ones was also inaugurated. Vehicles of Fire and Emergency Services of the Airports Authority of India was also inaugurated.

City buses

When Deputy Commissioner (DC) Rohini Sindhuri instructed to resume city buses from the Airport to city, an officer from KSRTC said they were operating seven buses during the arrival and departure of flights. But the service was suspended following outbreak of COVID-19 and added that the bus service would be restored soon.

Former President of FKCCI, Sudhakar S. Shetty said, he had been appealing the authorities to start Mysuru-Mangaluru air service for last three years. As many as 60,000 Mangaluru-based families were settled in city and they would be benefited with the introduction of direct flight between Mysuru and Mangaluru. Besides, there was a need for road connectivity to city from all four sides, improvement of Mysuru-Malavalli Road and removal of footpath encroachment at important junctions on Ring Roads.

Exorbitant rent

A representative of Travels Association said that air travellers were facing problems due to the absence of a taxi counter at the airport. When enquired to open the taxi counter, the Airport authorities have quoted the monthly rent of Rs.20,000 plus GST. If they pay this much of rent, travellers would be burdened further.

Both Simha and Sindhuri vouched the view and said it was not proper for the Airport authorities to fix that much of rent for the taxi counter. Airport Director R. Manjunath promised to take necessary step in this regard.

Those who attended the meeting included MUDA Chairman H.V. Rajeev, City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta, AAC Members — Harish Shenoy, S. Hemalatha, S.K. Dinesh and K.K. Mohan, Hotel Owners Association President C. Narayana Gowda, Past CII Chairman Bhaskar Kalale, Mysore Travels Association President Shivalingu and others were present.

DC unhappy

The DC was unhappy over yardstick being adopted by Karnataka Industrial Areas Development Board (KIADB) on acquisition of 20 acre of land for runway expansion. She said the Board has acquired the land without considering the gunta or house or plot. "Why KIADB did not first announce compensation, survey and acquire land?" She suggested the KIADB not to acquire land which has house or vacant plots, but acquire other 15 acre of land immediately and hand it over to the Airport authorities.

Upgradation as Intl. Airport in future

Mysore Airport Director R. Manjunath said the Airport will be upgraded as international airport in the coming days. At present, 12 flights are operated of which six of them were daily. Others were being operated to different locations on different dates. The number of flights will increase if the runway was expanded and facilities will be improved as per demands of travelling public.

Suggestions also came for direct flights from Mysuru to Mumbai and Delhi. This will help in the arrival of people from abroad. Due to non-availability of this, representatives of many industries and entrepreneurs were not ready to come to Mysuru which had become a stumbling block in city development. A single flight is operated on four to five different routes causing delay in journey. On occasion, flights were cancelled in last minute and this had affected travel plans of many from other airports. This problem should be addressed immediately. A tourism Information Centre must be set up by Karnataka State Tourism Development Corporation (KSTDC) at the Airport.

Airport runway expansion works to begin soon: MP Simha

Mysuru, Nov.11 (SSV&MTY)- The runway of Mysore Airport must be expanded if they wanted to provide air connectivity to other cities within the State and important places in other States, said Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha.

Speaking at the Airport Advisory Committee (AAC) meeting here yesterday, he said the current length of the runway was 17 km and its length had to be increased for landing and taking off of big planes. On one side there is a Railway line passing and on the other side there is National Highway 212. This was posing problem for the runway expansion. Though it was challenging, still the runway expansion project is being taken up. The project had been shared with Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa and requested his assistance for it. The State Government is likely to release Rs. 50 crore soon with which the land acquisition process will begin soon, he added.

Simha opined that it was not possible for city's development without the Airport runway expansion. The district has industrial area on nearly 50,000 acres of land and in spite of this the airport had not been developed. When he came to Mysore Airport after being elected as Lok Sabha member in 2014, the Airport was idle and operated only for politicians coming here in private planes. The Police did not have job and pigeons had built nests inside the building. At that time, he vowed to develop this airport. "I am happy that my dream has become a reality now", he noted.

The MP said National Highway 212 will be made to pass through an underpass near the Airport to facilitate the runway expansion. While the road will be below, the runway will be on top of it. Co-operation of one and all was necessary to upgrade Mysore Airport on international lines. The airfare was less than Railway ticket and people must come forward to use the Airport. Heads of various educational institutions, captains of industries and others must use flights to travel to other cities within and outside the State, the MP said.

Bihar polls: This morning I met this special delegation !

This morning I had three surprise visitors in my Office. Surprisingly all quadrupeds and naturally the security guard stopped them at the main gate and took down the details for his entry-exit register as per protocol including testing of temperature (thermal scanning) for COVID-19. All the three visitors were female and so the security was a tad kind to them.

Their names: Gange, Gowri and Tungabhadra. All looked well-fed. The purpose of their visit was to give a press statement about the result of Bihar Assembly election announced last night, early hours of today.

The security called me on the intercom and said in chaste Kannada: ಸಾರ್ ಇಲ್ಲಿ ಮೂರು ಹಸುಗಳು ಬಂದವೆ. ನಿಮ್ಮನ್ನ ನೋಡಬೇಕಂತೆ (Sir, three cows have come here to meet you). I thought the security has gone nuts. "What? Have you gone mad?" (ಏನು ನಿನಗೆ ಹುಚ್ಚು ಹಿಡಿದಿದ್ದಿಯೇನೋ?)

"Why Sir? I have taken all the details and even done the COVID-19 test," he said and had the audacity to ask if he could send them in!

I screamed: You fool, put down the phone.

I then got up from my chair in full COVID safety PPE suit, mask, face shield, sanitised my hands and went out to see the security, the nut as I thought him to be.

And what do I see? Poor security struggling to hold the three cows from forcing their way into Office reception. Neither he nor I wanted a "bull in a China shop" situation. I called the peons to help the security in keeping the cows in the open.

Seeing me, the cows were excited. They were not behaving like aggressive or argumentative bipeds with a grievance or complaint. Well, after all they are holy cows of India. Always docile. All the three, Gange, Gowri and Tungabhadra went down on all the fours and prostrated before me. I was a bit embarrassed. I thought it was their 'samskara', culture; culture of our ancient, sacred land of peace and non-violence.

I gently touched and caressed them, blessing them, as they came back on the fours.

Then Gange spoke: "Sir, we are the three who have come to meet you with a press note about the Bihar Assembly election. There, Sir, outside your compound wall there is a herd of 200 of our brothers and sisters."

I was taken aback. Gosh, what would happen if all the 200 charged into my campus! I wondered.

Gowri spoke: Yes, Sir, all of them wanted to come. More to see you and your office. But we convinced them that it was not proper but we would give them your photograph and also of the Office building. See, we have brought cell phone...

Tungabhadra spoke: Now please Sir, let us have a photo session and one when we give you the press note.

I co-operated with those gentle souls. After all, they are Indian Holy Cows!

This done, I asked them to tell me what was in the press statement. All the three cows said in chorus, "Read it sir." I said, it was too long like most of the press statements, but they could tell me the gist of it. And, apparently, the leader of the delegation Gange said:

"We are congratulating our brothers and sisters of Bihar for having been saved by the Bihar Assembly election result of another Fodder Scam, depriving them of their Constitutional right to food, shelter and medical care. Sir, God's grace, otherwise the dynasty would have claimed its entitlement and would have again stolen what rightly belonged to our Bihar brothers and sisters. You know Sir, after all, habits die hard!"

"Okay, I appreciate your sentiments and concern for your fellow brothers and sisters of Bihar. Now you may go," I said and took leave of them.

KDP progress review meeting held at ZP

Mysuru,Nov.11 (RKB&DM)- The monthly KDP (Karnataka Development Programme) progress review meeting of Mysuru Zilla Panchayat was held at the ZP hall here this morning.

Soon as the meeting began, ZP President Parimala Shyam wanted to know why Rs. 73.16 lakh allotted for the Department of Youth Empowerment and Sports got lapsed for non-expenditure.

Omprakash, Assistant Director of the Department said that he took charge 45 days ago and his predecessor (Suresh) had not given any account of the allotment and expenditure of funds, despite not handing over keys of the Department to Office staff Cheluvaiah, who was then asked to take charge. Angered by Omprakash's reply, the ZP President asked him why he had not reported the matter to her and as well as the ZP CEO, to which Omprakash said that he had brought the matter to the notice of his higher ups in the Department.

Omprakash also brought to the notice of the meeting about acute staff shortage in the Department, to which Zilla Panchayat Chief Executive Officer (CEO) D. Bharathi directed the Deputy Secretary to look into the matter.

Later, the meeting discussed the issue of moderate performance of the district in 2019-20 SSLC exam, which saw the district get a lower ranking in results, when Mysuru was expecting top ranking. DDPI Dr. Panduranga said that Mysuru performed well in the supplementary exams and the District has recorded a combined pass percentage of 90 percent in SSLC, taking into account both the main and supplementary exams. Panduranga further said that Government Schools in the district was witnessing record admissions in recent years, with over 3,000 students getting admitted to different classes after leaving private schools. Expressing happiness about the increasing Government School admissions, the DDPI said that more measures will be taken for enhancing the outreach and quality of education.

ZP Standing Committee on Health and Education Chairman N. Manjunath asked the DDPI to hold regular meetings with the BEOs to discuss additional measures that need to be taken for improving SSLC pass percentage and also to improve the quality of education and infrastructure in Government Schools.

Zilla Panchayat members A.M. Guruswamy, S. Manjunath and officials from various Departments were present during the meeting.

Admission to Diploma courses

Mysuru, Nov. 11- Applications have been invited from SSLC supplementary students and PU students for admission to Diploma courses at JSS Polytechnic, Nanjangud.

Courses offered: Diploma in Civil Engineering; Mechatronics Engineering (CO-OP); Computer Science and Engineering and Diploma in Electrical and Electronics Engineering.

Eleventh Convocation of JSS AHER

"I will appeal them to accept with all humility. Doctor profession is one of the noblest professions and you will remember in your life serving in rural areas for one year. Unfortunately, some of them have filed petition in Court questioning the Government's decision to make rural service compulsory. The Government is definitely going to defend its decision in Court. But, my appeal is for those medicos to understand the rationale behind taking such a decision," Minister Dr. Sudhakar noted.

Recruitment of 2,500 doctors

Dr. Sudhakar said Health and Family Welfare Department has planned a direct recruitment of 2,500 doctors in various disciplines so that they could serve the masses in nook and corner of the State.

Plans are afoot to give a special incentive for those who work in rural areas and also consider them while giving promotion by relaxing the existing rules. A doctor in Bengaluru may get promotion after six years but one who worked in rural areas may get promotion within three years, he said.

"After several years, both Health and Medical Education Department portfolios have been merged. I have a vision and dream that everyone must be accessible to good healthcare at an affordable price," he pointed out.

New Medical Colleges

He said the State Government is opening up four new Medical Colleges in the State in the current academic year. On Nov. 13, foundation stone will be laid for Haveri Medical College and on Nov. 19, foundation will be laid for Atal Behari Vajpayee Medical College on Infantry Road in Bengaluru. Two other Medical Colleges are planned in Chikkaballapur and Haveri.

Efforts are being made to increase the number of doctors, para-medicos and nurses at least three to four times than the current strength. Every teaching medical college had been asked to start training centres for para-medicos and nurses, he said.

In order to improve the quality of education in Government Medical Colleges, Rajiv Gandhi University of Health Sciences (RGUHS) has provided Modular Operation Theatres, introduced Learning Management System and 3-D technology to enable the students to listen special lectures from distinguished professors from across the country, he said adding that of late, a lot of impetus had been given on Research and Development.

In connection with silver jubilee celebrations of RGUHS, a special hackathon was conducted to enable students to think out-of-the-box on COVID-19 pandemic. While one of the institutions has come out with reusable PPE Kit, another college came out with bio-degradable face mask, he disclosed.

Dr. Sudhakar said it was quite a paradox that India has emerged as a hub of Medical Tourism and thousands of people from various countries come here for liver and kidney transplantation, and also to undergo complex surgeries. But on the other hand this kind of healthcare was not available for fellow citizens. In the wake of this, the State Government wanted to provide access to good healthcare to all the needy at affordable cost.

"According to my knowledge, 6-7 per cent of families of the total 1.15 crore families in Karnataka, sell their properties for medical treatment. This was very bad for any country," he bemoaned.

1,436 students receive degrees

A total of 1,436 students were conferred with their degrees at the Convocation, at Bachelors, Masters and Doctoral levels in the Faculties of Medicine, Dentistry, Pharmacy, Management Studies, Life Sciences and Biomedical Sciences.

In all, 52 candidates, who share 72 medals and awards, were identified for their academic excellence, 46 candidates were awarded Ph.D research degrees and five candidates received Medical Super-speciality degree (DM and M.Ch.). Among the gold medallists, Preeti Prakash Prabhu bagged the highest number of gold medals.

Due to the pandemic, only 100 participants comprising of Ph.D and Medical Super-speciality degree awardees and Gold medal winners participated in-person at the venue of the Convocation.

The Convocation ceremony was, however, livestreamed on JSS AHER YouTube Channel and was also screened at JSS Pharmacy College, Bannimantap and few other JSS institutions.

Competitive exams coaching concludes

Mysuru, Nov. 11 (RKB&DM)- City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta said that we should aim at achieving big in life and draw inspiration for contributing something to the society.

He was delivering a virtual address as the guest of honour at the valedictory of the 50-day coaching classes for Bank Exams conducted by the KSOU's Competitive Exams Coaching Centre on Monday.

Noting that the KSOU had organised online coaching classes at a time when academic activities had come to a standstill for the past several months due to the outbreak of the deadly COVID-19 pandemic, Dr. Chandragupta said that every candidate should test his mental and intellectual ability ahead of appearing for competitive exams.

Stating that it is important for every candidate to ascertain where he can stand with other candidates in competitive exams, he said that the present day is witnessing cut-throat competition for every job available. Highlighting the importance of making preparations for facing challenges, the Police Commissioner underlined the need for not letting go any opportunity for learning.

Pointing out that acquiring knowledge is most crucial for achieving success in competitive exams, he asked the students to first set their goals before taking any exam.

Canara Bank Regional Deputy General Manager I. Panduranga Mitantaya, who was the chief guest, said that Banking jobs are getting more attractive than any other jobs now a days.

Pointing out that entry to Banking job means growth to higher levels, he asked the candidates to give more attention to Banking sector, as it provides ample opportunities for career growth.

KSOU Vice-Chancellor Prof. S. Vidyashankar, in his address, said that the University's Competitive Exams Coaching Centre has already conducted online coaching classes for five competitive exams and more than 500 aspirants have already registered for the 60-day IAS/KAS exam coaching classes to be held online.

Referring to academic coaching, he said that the KSOU has decided to conduct all its academic courses fully online starting from January 2021.

KSOU Registrar Prof. Lingaraj Gandhi, Competitive Exams Coaching Centre Co-ordinator Jainahalli Sathyanarayanagowda, Canara Bank Officer S. Radhakrishna and other officials were present during the valedictory of the coaching classes.

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

Does pasteurella kill rabbits?

Yes, it can. Pasteurella multocida is a gram negative bacteria of which there are several strains. Signs and symptoms of pasteurella infection (pasteurellosis) usually involve the upper respiratory tract. Infected rabbits may have a watery nasal discharge and sneezing, followed by a thick, whitish or yellowish nasal discharge. Rabbits seem to be very susceptible to the germ Pasteurella multocida. Pasteurellosis drains the immune system, and if the rabbit doesn't die from snuffles (pasteurellosis caused by P. multocida), it can die from related or opportunistic infections, such as pneumonia or staph infections.

Why is my rabbit not acting normal?

Signs of abnormal behaviour: • Excessively nervous and jumpy; • Restlessness; • Unusually aggressive and difficult to handle; • Lethargy; • Lack of interest in food; • Rapid breathing; • Easily agitated; • Excessive grooming; • Grunting or screeching; • Panting; • Bulging (scared) eyes; • Ears held back tight against the head; • Thumping or stomping the ground; • Hair pulling which would result in visible bald patches or coat thinning; • Repetitive or stereotypical behaviours such as head bobbing, circling, biting bars etc.; • Rabbits are prey animals.

They hide signs of illness until very late in the progression of the illness so that, by the time you observe them, they may be quite ill. If your rabbit isn't acting himself/ herself, there's probably something going on. You know your rabbit and what his/ her normal behaviour is. It may be time to go the vet.

How do you treat burning urine in rabbits?

Burning urine is thick, beige- or brown-coloured urine. Urinary incontinence, especially during confinement or at places that are not customary (locations he has not peed before). Frequent urination, but only in small amounts. Skin scalding/ burns due to urine, especially around genitals and hind legs, tells you about burning urine. This can be cured by asking the vet for pain relief/anti-inflammatory treatment for the rabbit. A low dose of Metacam, once daily, can alleviate the pain and discomfort.

Are rabbits good pets for young children?

A rabbit is a very delicate animal. Rabbits are social animals that require a lot of individual attention. They need daily exercise and playtime and not rough handling. If you are getting a rabbit then you have to train your child on how to interact and care for the rabbit.

What is a healthy rabbit?

It's relatively easy to recognise the basic signs of a happy, healthy rabbit:

An alert expression. Does your rabbit show a keen interest in her surroundings? Does she exhibit enthusiasm when she sees you? These are excellent signs of rabbit health. Your rabbit may not seem alert all of the time (after all, they get sleepy sometimes), but pronounced lethargy or dullness can indicate a problem. Like many animals, rabbits may hide injuries or illness in order to avoid appearing vulnerable to predators.

A clean, dry nose. Your rabbit should have dry nostrils. Significant nasal discharge or persistent sneezing can be symptoms of pasteurella, more commonly known as snuffles.

Bright eyes. Rabbits seem to epitomise the old saying "bright eyed and bushy tailed." Has your bunny perfected that endearing, intent gaze? Are those big brown (or blue or red) eyes bright and free of discharge? Watery eyes can be another sign of snuffles, or could potentially indicate an allergy or other medical issue.

Clean ears. The ears are, obviously, one of the most iconic characteristics of a rabbit, and clean ears are an important part of good health. Watch for scabby, crusty areas inside your rabbit's ears, as these can be symptoms of an ear infection known as ear canker. Your rabbit's ears should also be free of mites, wax, dirt and other debris. Rabbits control their body temperature through the blood vessels in their ears, which can help you detect a fever or other change in your rabbit's temperature. Take steps to keep your pet cool in order to prevent overheating. If you notice a head tilt in your rabbit, this could indicate an inner ear problem.

Correct teeth. Because rabbits' teeth grow continually throughout their lifetime, they can be prone to developing dental problems. Malocclusion (essentially the misalignment of the teeth) can cause significant problems and requires veterinary attention. Keep an eye out for excessive drooling, as this can be an indication of a dental issue.

Healthy fur. Aside from occasional seasonal moulting, your rabbit's fur should appear healthy for its type, whether she has luxurious Angora wool, velvety Rex fur, shiny Satin fur or attractive "normal" fur. Watch for dull coats, unexplained hair loss, bare spots or excessive itching, as these could indicate a problem with parasites or illness.

Good feet. Check those toenails regularly — rabbit toenails can grow very quickly and need to be trimmed on a regular basis. You'll also want to watch for the appearance of any crusty, weepy, sore spots on your rabbit's hind feet; a condition known as sore hocks. Your rabbit should also exhibit a normal gait when walking, and not show any signs of limping.

A good appetite. While she might not choose to chow down in front of you (some rabbits prefer to eat in privacy), a healthy rabbit has a good appetite and eats and drinks approximately the same amount each day. If you notice that your rabbit suddenly seems uninterested in her food or water, it's time to investigate further.

A healthy weight. A healthy bunny shouldn't be overweight, but she shouldn't be too thin, either. The ideal weight will vary among individual rabbits depending on their breed.

Normal droppings. Your rabbit's faeces should be round, uniform in size and consist mainly of hay. Regularly check your rabbit's droppings for any abnormal signs. Rabbits also produce Cecotropes — small, soft pellets that appear darker and moister than faeces. Cecotropes contain vital nutrients and are a necessary part of your rabbit's diet, so don't be alarmed when you see your rabbit eating them.

Do rabbits need treatment for parasites?

Fleas - Rabbits have their own species of flea called Spilopsyllus cuniculi. This is seen occasionally in pet rabbits. The main concern with this parasite is that it can spread myxomatosis between rabbits.

Mites - The most common mite in rabbits is Cheyletiella parasitovorax or 'walking dandruff'. This is usually seen as an area of white scurfy skin, usually on the back or between the shoulder blades.

Lice - Haemodipsus ventricosus is the rabbit biting louse. It can be seen with the naked eye. It is often an indication of poor husbandry, especially in breeding colonies.

Fungal Infections - 'Ringworm' occurs in rabbits but it is not common. It is not a worm at all but a fungal infection usually caused by Trichophyton mentagraphytes or Microsporum canis.

Internal Parasites - Regular de-worming of rabbits (as is essential for cats and dogs) is not necessary. Worm infestations, of either round or tapeworms, are possible but rare in pet rabbits.

In most rabbits with E cuniculi, the treatment is twofold: treating with an anti-parasite drug such as Fenbendazole (Panacur®) for up to 28 days, along with nutritional and supportive care.

Can rabbits die from worms?

Worms that are harmful and may cause death to your rabbit are:

Worms: Pinworms are the most common type found in rabbits, but they can also get roundworms, whipworms or stomach worms. Symptoms can include weight loss or failure to gain weight. Obeliscoides cuniculi is a stomach worm that can infect rabbits that eat fresh grass, but your pet may not exhibit any symptoms unless the infection is severe. Seek veterinary care immediately if you notice lethargy, appetite loss or weight loss.

Cuterebra fly larvae and other maggots: Cuterebra flies often lay their eggs in grass, and when the larvae hatch, they can hitch a ride on your pet and burrow into her tender skin. If you spot a small circular, hole or a lump, call your veterinarian immediately. But don't squeeze this bump — doing so can jolt your bunny into shock, causing seizures and possibly death.

Madikeri, Nov. 11 (PS&DM)- With used water bottles, plastic covers, cups and such other wastes littered all along the roads leading to popular tourist spots in the district, here is a veteran environmentalist who stands guard to keep the 'Kote Abbey Falls' in Makkandur Gram Panchayat (GP) limits always free of wastes and garbage.

The splendorous Kote Abbey Falls is located near Avandi village, about 14 kms from Madikeri and comes under Makkandur GP. The falls, situated in the midst of lush green environs, was lesser known until a few years ago. But it gradually turned out into a popular tourist destination in the past couple of years, with tourists flocking to the Falls on a regular basis.

With the Falls turning out into a major tourist attraction, the Makkandur GP appointed Odiyanda Aiyanna, a localite and a keen nature lover, to keep guard of the Falls for protecting the natural environs of the Falls.

The Panchayat has stipulated a small fee for tourists to visit the Falls. After being appointed, Aiyanna always stands guard near the Falls, keeping a watch on the activities of visitors.

As a danger spot has been formed with the thrust of the falling waters at the Falls, Aiyanna is always busy, stopping the visitors from going anywhere close to that spot. Tourists who want to climb the Falls, should seek the permission of Aiyanna, who upon advising on the DOs and DON'Ts, gives permission to be there for just about 15 minutes. However, the tourists can revel in the waters that flows only knee deep under the bridge.

Soon as a tourist arrives at the spot, Aiyanna guides him/her to the waste bin placed close by.

Aiyanna sees to it that not even a bit of paper, cigarette butts or other such wastes lie on the ground at the spot. This practice of Aiyanna has turned out into a undeclared Law of the land at the spot.

Aiyanna has made it a habit to make the violators themselves pick up the wastes they had thrown and put them in the right place — the dustbin.

Aiyanna always believes that a wrong act by someone must not come in the way of maintaining hygiene and cleanliness at the spot and even the tourists have started appreciating his concerns for saving the environs of nature in its pristine beauty. With care for the nature and the zest for keeping the spot clean and hygienic, the Kote Abbey Falls seems to be different from other tourist destinations in the district, thanks to Aiyanna.

There is no doubt that Kodagu can retain its identity as 'Scotland of India' for long, if tourists and visitors show social commitment for the cause of nature just like Aiyanna, by following the measures introduced by him at Kote Abbey Falls.

WORD OF THE DAY

Reprove

Pronunciation: rih-PROOV.
Meaning: To scold or correct usually gently.
Origin: Reprove, rebuke, reprimand, admonish, reproach, and chide all mean to criticize. Reprove implies an often kindly intent to correct a fault. Rebuke suggests a sharp or stern criticism (as in "In the interview, the candidate sternly rebuked the agendas of those running against her"). Reprimand implies a severe, formal, often public or official rebuke ("He was reprimanded before the ethics committee"). Admonish suggests earnest or friendly warning and counsel ("The assistant manager was admonished to control expenses"). Reproach and chide suggest displeasure or disappointment expressed in mild scolding ("The teacher reproached the student for tardiness" and "The child was chided by his nana for untidiness"). Incidentally, the resemblance of reprove to prove is not coincidental—both words can be traced back to the Latin probare ("to test" or "to prove").
Example: "'Being in confinement has made me reflect on what actually matters—which is progress and seeing others achieve greatness.' [Joan] Smalls is taking to her Instagram account to reprove those that have remained silent during a time when the whole world is looking for reform." — Harper's

THE ODD WORD

Radicivorous

Eating roots.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Read the riot act

Meaning: Reprimand rowdy characters and warn them to stop behaving badly.
Origin: Since the early 19th century we have used 'read the riot act' as a figurative phrase to describe attempts to calm groups of rowdies - along the same lines as 'you noisy louts, don't you know there are people here trying to sleep?'. It wasn't always so. Had we been 'reading the riot act' in 1715 we would have noticed capital letters. At that date there was a real Riot Act and it used to be read in public. In English law the control of unruly citizens has usually been the responsibility of local magistrates. Any group of twelve or more that the authorities didn't like the look of could be deemed a 'riotous and tumultuous assembly' and arrested if they didn't disperse within an hour of the Riot Act being read to them by a magistrate. This seems a little harsh, but in 18th century England the government was fearful of Jacobite mobs who threatened to rise up and overthrow the Hanoverian George I. The fear was well-founded, as supporters of the deposed Stuarts did actually invade in 1715 and again in 1745. The 'Riot Act' was passed by the British government in 1714 and came into force in 1715. The punishments for ignoring the Act were severe - penal servitude for not less than three years, or imprisonment with hard labour for up to two years.

CRYPTOQUIP

The Cryptoquip is a substitution cipher in which one letter stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words and words using an apostrophe give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is by trial and error.

Mumbai Indians clinch fifth IPL title

Becomes second team in IPL history to successfully defend the title after Chennai Super Kings achieved the feat in 2010 and 2011

Dubai, Nov. 11- Rohit Sharma led from the front while Trent Boult starred with the ball as Mumbai Indians (MI) beat Delhi Capitals (DC) by five wickets in the Indian Premier League (IPL) 2020 final in Dubai yesterday and clinched their fifth IPL title. With this win, MI became second team in the IPL history to successfully defend the title after Chennai Super Kings (CSK) achieved the feat in 2010 and 2011.

Needing 157 runs to win the final, MI were off to a flying start as Rohit, who completed 4,000 IPL runs for MI, and Quinton de Kock attacked from the word go, taking MI to 45/0 after 4 overs.

However, their partnership was broken after de Kock was dismissed by Marcus Stoinis.

Suryakumar Yadav replaced de Kock in the middle and announced his arrival in style, creaming a four and a six on the first two balls he faced before MI marched to 61/1 after the end of powerplay.

While DC bowled two tight overs, Rohit went after Pravin Dubey in the ninth over, hitting the leg-spinner for two sixes. The MI skipper then completed 3,000 IPL runs as captain as MI moved closer to 90 at the halfway stage of the chase. MI though lost Surya in the 11th over following a mix-up in the middle with Rohit.

Rohit then notched up his third half-century of the season and took MI past the hundred-run mark in the 12th over. Ishan, who had joined Rohit in the middle after Surya's fall, continued his good run of form as he zoomed to 26 off 15 balls at the end of the 16th over. While Anrich Nortje and Kagiso Rabada picked three wickets, including that of Rohit, Ishan Kishan took the team home with 8 balls to spare.

Earlier, MI made one change to their playing XI as Jayant Yadav replaced Rahul Chahar. Meanwhile, DC retained the team which took the field in Qualifier 2.

MI were off to a cracking start as Trent Boult struck on the first ball, dismissing Marcus Stoinis, who edged one to the wicket-keeper. The left-arm pacer picked his second wicket in his next over as Ajinkya Rahane was strangled down the leg side.

MI introduced spin into the attack in the fourth over and the move worked straightway as Jayant Yadav got Shikhar Dhawan out after the left-hander missed his slog-sweep.

DC needed Shreyas Iyer and Rishabh Pant to do a rebuilding job and the two delivered when their team needed it in the all-important final.

While Iyer got a life in the sixth over after Ishan Kishan, despite his brilliant effort in the field, could not complete a difficult catch, he and Pant took DC past 40. The two added 18 runs in the next three overs before Pant clobbered two sixes off Krunal Pandya as the two completed a 50-run stand, taking DC closer to 80 after the end of 10 overs.

DC brought up their hundred in the 14th over before Pant completed a fine counter-attacking fifty in the next over. However, the DC wicket-keeper got out in the same over after being holed out at fine-leg off Nathan Coulter-Nile's over.

Two overs later, Iyer hit two fours and completed his third fifty of the season before Boult, bowling his final over of the night, picked his third wicket of the match, dismissing Shimron Hetmyer. While Iyer remained not out on 65, DC eventually posted 156/7 on the board.
